SCHOOLS OPEN WITH LARGE ATTENDANCE

This morning the public schools of Monesen opened for the 1915-16 ferm with a full corps of teachers and the largest enrollment in the history of the local schools.

Early last week scholars and teachers began to arrive and have kept coming in a constant stream ever since.This town now employes seventy-six teachers and will have a total enrollment of more than 3,000 pupils. The full corps of teachers reported this morning for duty but it will be several days before the exact enrollment is made public.

Prof. H. E. Gress superintendent has been busy for several weeks getting everything in shape for the opening. Every room in the new high school building erected last summer and completed last fall will be used to relieve the congested condition. In all, there are eight large school buildings and half a dozen portable buildings. At the close of this week it is expected there will be practically a full enrollment.

Million Dollars Hinges on Identity

San Fancisco, Sept. 6—The famous Keith will case, involving the million dollars left by John M. Keith, a wealthy oil man, will come up again in the Superior Court tomorrow.Mrs. Louise Thompson, who claims to be the long-lost daughter of the oil man, will be given opportunity to prove her claim that Keith had a child and that she is that child. Further information that Keith lost his daughter in a shipwreck off Alaska is furnished by Mrs. Anna L. Krause, who claims that Keith sent her twice into the land of the Eskimos to hunt for the lost daughter. But, according to Mrs. Krause, her trips were unsuccessful, although she remembers the discription of the birthmark which was to identify the lost girl. Her story substantiates in part the unusual story of Mrs. Thompson of Los Angeles, who came forward at the closing hour of the will case with the claim that she was Keith's daughter, lost in the Arctic seas, and had believed her father lost in the same shipwreck. The Keith relatives have maintained that the late oil magnate had no child, and they will contest the claim unless it is proven beyond all doubt.

Two children, Joe Bondi and Gertrude Leadman of Second street, were slightly injured by an automobile. It seems both children were standing near the car of Emil Carnes while Mr. Carnes was cranking the machine. The car gave a backward shot when Mr. Carnes gave the crank a turn and both children were knocked down. Their injuries were only of a very slight nature.

CANDIDATE

In Mr. Allison the aspirant for the two year term of council in the Second ward the electors have a man well qualified for the office and backed by experience that fits him well to represent the people of the town. Mr. Allison has served seven years as a councilman of Monessen and he knows what to do, how and when to do it. He holds a responsible position with the Pittsburgh Steel company and is one of the pioneer citizens. During the contest between the consumers and the water company, Mr. Allison was one of the men who stood up fearlessly for the rights of the people. He knows the needs of the taxpayers and he knows and feels the needs of the working man and his force and experience will add greatly to make a strong councilmanic body. Realizing that both himself and Mr. Allison stand for the same principles, and in order to avoid a contest, Chauncey S. Duvall whose petition was filed by advocates of good government has withdrawn from the field leaving but one candidate in the second ward for the two year term.

THEATRE

The Star has another great attraction for this evening, Betty Nansen the world's greatest tragedian in "Anna Karenina," this is another of the William Fox productions which are gaining great favor in Monessen. The Star will present specials every night this week.

Saturday night the theatre was crowded to witness Captain Macklin one of the best photo plays of the day.

The Olympic is still advancing, for Thursday the management has secured "The Scarlet Sin," featuring Hobert Bosworth, and for Friday the Metro program will be extra fine, they will present Albert Chevalier in the "Middleman," one of the best dramas of the day. "The Diamond from the Sky" is getting very popular as is also "The Broken Coin."

The Bijou theatre has a big feature for tomorrow, Mary Pickford in "Wilful Peggy." another of Mary Pickford's successes. Tuesday, Ruth Stonehouse and Bryant Washburn, the two popular Essany stars, will appear in "The Greatest Courage." For the rest of the week the pictures scheduled are of the very best.

AUTO DRIVER THROWN THROUGH WINDSHIELD

Last evening while leaving Monongahela for his home in Roscoe the automobile owned and being driven by James Wilkins was struck by a car on the Pittsburgh Railways line and was badly damaged, Mr. Wilkins was hurled through the windshield and injured to such an extent that it was necessary to remove him to the office of Dr. Underwood and several stiches were required to close the wound made by broken glass from the windshield. In addition to the driver there were two other passengers in the machine at the time of the accident. They were Mr. and Mrs. Guy Carson also of Roscoe neither of whom were injured beyond the schock they received. The party had been at the home of Mr. Carson's brother where they spent the day and has just left the house when the accident occurred. The machine was so badly damaged that it had to be removed to a garage and the party returned to Roscoe last night by street car.

INJURED

While at work at the Pittsburgh Steel today, F. Earl Shutterly was caught by a crane and badly injured. He was at once removed to the Monongahela hospital for medical attention. Little details as to the gravity of the accident could be learned but it is belived one of the hip bones was broken.

Dog Law Should Be Enforced

Some people are making an awful fuss about the alien dog law, claiming it works a hardship on the foreigner if he is not permitted to keep a dog. They argue that in this piece of legislature the foreigner is being discriminated against.

When you consider the destructive tendencies of the dog and the fact that the greatest number of dogs belong to a class who pay little or no taxes, it does not seem to be very much of a hardship to prevent them from keeping dogs. In recent years the farmers have met heavy losses in the destruction of their cattle, hogs and sheep on account of the over production of dogs. In a large measure these canines are found around mining towns and the laboring people of these districts in most cases have large families and are not able to provide abundantly for their families and their dogs, consequently the dogs roam the fields and forests in search of anything they may devour.

Throughout this section of the state a few years ago the fields contained vast herds of sheep, cattle and swine, but the farmers found it an impossibility to keep stock on account of the ravages of the dogs and consequently have gone out of this business. This was an awful blow to their income and has been an element in raising the cost of living.

The dog tax was found insufficient to cover any reasonable amount of the property destroyed for the reason that the dogs were not turned in to the assessor, and no tax was being paid by their owners. This in a measure was responsible for the passing of this law which is a commendable piece of legislation.

Now we hear from the dog sympathizers. But they forget the real issue and argue "discrimination" when as a matter of fact the law is a protection to the foreigner and keeps him from getting into the meshes of the law. It should be rigidly enforced in every section of the state.

A Lesson From Disaster

Just as the Astabula bridge had to fall to make bridges secure, and the Iroquois theatre had to burn to make theatres safe, so apparently the Eastland tragedy in Chicago had to incur to insure future safety in excursion boat service says the Modern Woodman. And the pity of it all is that in all the tragedies occurred man's greed came first and "safety" was a meaningless word in their hearts. It may seem harsh, yet the man responsible for the fault which made possible the loss of life in the Eastland disaster, is just as guilty of murder as is the night marauder who puts a revolver to the head of his victim and blows out his brains. The horror of the Eastland tragedy seems doubly appauling because it happened while the boat was still at the dock and thousands of people were within close hailing distance, yet unable to render aid because of the nature of the accident. In a measure the American speed spirit is responsible for the faulty construction of the Eastland. The contract called for a certain speed per hour. As originally designed the boat failed to come up to the speed limit designated in the contract. "While the 'maritime law' " says the Chicago Tribune, "requires a 'stability line' of twenty inches," the Eastland had only four inches without ballast. Sixteen inches of "safety" had been sacrificed for "speed," and as a result death came to more than eight hundred There is one satisfying thing in the whole terrible affair and that is the splendid spirit in which the people responded to the call for financial aid for those left dependent. The wave of sympathy carried upon its crest generous dollars in an amount beyond most sanguine expectations. This spirit of giving is characteristic of the America people. Careless where caution is needed; daring to an extent that is foolhardy, but when accident, flood, famine or earthquake causes want our people will respond. This is highly commendable, but does not excuse that "system" which puts incompetency in positions of responsibility, or permits the man with a "pull" to prevent the faithful and fearless performance of duty.

the printer always picks is FIVE BROTHERS.

Not "Pi", Mr. Printer, but P-I-E. It's the real old toothsome pie for you, too, when you get hold of FIVE BROTHERS tobacco. You're never mussed up when you've got FIVE BROTHERS. It's a rich, sweet, healthy smoke or chew; and the printer is glad of a chance to use printer's ink to tell the rest of the world how good it is.

FIVE BROTHERS

Pipe Smoking Tobacco

is a prime favorite with printers and all live, hustling he-boys who know and like a smoke or a chew of real man's tobacco.

And FIVE BROTHERS is always the same—always satisfying. We don't let FIVE BROTHERS go out of the factory until the tobacco has been aged from three to five years, so that all the rich, mellow sweetness of its Southern Kentucky leaf is at its best.

When you're tobacco hungry, you want clean, honest, juicy tobacco with some backbone to it. You never see a FIVE BROTHERS user switch to some other brand. He knows nothing can compare with FIVE BROTHERS for downright satisfaction.

THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY

Patriotic Message of Woman's Liberty Bell Stirs Thousands

Miss Elizabeth McShane Director of the Bell tour.

Four year old Betty Bratton, youngest suffragist in Somerset Co.

Street crowd at Titusville.

Crowd at Mahaffey, More hay rack loaded with party from neighboring farms

Patriotic Pennsylvania is responding so splendidly to the mute but eloquent appeal of the Woman's Liberty Bell that Governor Brumbaugh's prediction that the men of Pennsylvania will approve the suffrage amendment at the polls this year seems certain of fulfillment More than a million people have taken part in the wonderful receptions tendered to the bell on its triumphant tour of the western half of the State, and thousands upon thousands of men in all the cities, towns and hamlets along the route have pledged their allegiance to the women's cause

Both in the rural and industrial sections the receptions have been the same—friendly warm and enthusiastic. The farmer has left his plough, and the miner his pick, to see the bell that is to sound the message of political independence to the women of this State and to hear the women speakers explain what this message means

At Coleraine, in Carbon county, a meeting was held at the entrance to a colliery that outdid in its elements of picturesqueness any political meeting ever held in the State The little mining settlement, with its single street, emptied itself of men, women and children as the big bell truck, gay with yellow flags, came honking up the steep mountain road into the village. For an instant, every dooryard became a mass of faces, then the coal dust flew in every direction as the miners and their families dashed out to meet the bell

Miss Emma MacAlarney, one of the speakers with the bell party, explained why the women of the State want the ballot

'We're with you Miss,' said a brawny miner "All you folks want is a square deal and you can gamble that we'll give it to you You're all right"

But it is not the miners alone who are pledging a "square deal" to the women Farmers shopmen staid Judges business men policemen politicians, mayors burgesses—all have come to see what the bell stands for and are rallying to its support

The attitude of most of these men was splendidly summarized by Judge C B Staples, when, in welcoming the Liberty Bell party at Stroudsburg, he said

"I was appointed to welcome the bell, but I am here to welcome the supporters of what the bell stands for The bell stands for a cause that has set the world agog This is the same cause that our revolutionary fathers stood for and the women in that time were just as loyal as the men, even as our women of today are. They want a voice in the government under which they live—a voice in the making of the laws which they must obey. It is their right and they should have it."

A good idea of the size of the average crowd that attend the bell meetings may be gleaned from a glance at the pictures which accompany this story The night meetings are frequently attended by thousands In Williamsport the crowd at the night meeting was estimated at 12,000

Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough for I know I never would have been as well if I had not taken it and I recommend it to suffering women"

Daughter Helped Also.

"I gave it to my daughter when she was thirteen years old. She was in school and was a nervous wreck, and could not sleep nights. Now she looks so healthy that even the doctor speaks of it You can publish this letter if you like"—Mrs RENA BOWMAN, 161 S 10th Street, Ironton, Ohio.

Why will women continue to suffer day in and day out and drag out a sickly, half hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Brumbaugh Declares For Suffrage; Says Women Will Win in November

In a recent interview at Denver, while en route to the Panama Exposition, Governor Brumbaugh declared himself as being heartily in favor of woman suffrage

"Unquestionably, women are entitled to vote," he said. "As a school man, I have learned the value of their conclusions, and in some instances have even found it wise to defer to them."

The Governor then added the prediction that the suffrage amendment will carry here this November

"I believe women in Pennsylvania will be given the right to vote after the next election. I believe they should be given the ballot!" he reiterated.

PITTSBURGH EXPOSITION OPENS WITH BRILLIANT DISPLAY AND GREAT CROWDS

Locomotive Which Pulled Abraham Lincoln's Train to Washington Is Among Relics at Point Show--Music Enchants

For the twenty seventh time, in as many years, the historic Point district of Pittsburgh on Wednesday of this week was thrilled with the crowds of eager people from all portions of the Pittsburgh district, who came to attend the formal opening of the annual Pittsburgh Exposition season of 1915. There were tens of thousands of lights glowing inside and outside the huge Exposition buildings and bright colored bunting festooned the huge structures while flags of many colors were floating in abundance. Music resounded from many points, exhibits that were astonishing as they were delightful were shown in scores of new places in the big buildings.

In the huge Exposition Music hall thousands of people sat absorbed and lulled by the beautiful work of the half hundred musical artists making up the superb symphony orchestra under the direction of Wassih Leps, who will continue with four concerts each day for the next week, while Miss Gertrude Hutcheson, a member of the Boston Grand Opera company, appears daily in solos adding brilliancy to the programs. Throughout the great buildings there are many free motion picture shows, mainly illustrating some great industry or some benifisent work. There are booths showing model house buildings, gas mantel making, rug weaving and electrical appliances covering every known domestic utility operated with the magic current.

The amazing collection of historic methods of transportation of people offered by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad is one of the most extensive and valuable ever shown in public, consisting of carts of the period 200 B. C. and also from all portions of the Orient, while the earliest forms of coaches and locomotives ever used in America are shown in actual relics. This year the actual locomotive that carried Abraham Lincoln to Washington for his inauguration is in view, just as it appeared on that memorable occasion. The government of the United States is showing machines from its mint, making coins, but in this instance it is not actual money but medals as souvenirs of the Exposition that are being struck off.

To recount all that can be seen at the Point this year in Pittsburgh would take a large volume. To describe its value as a showing of modern progress and advancing civilization is to say only the words of the veteran managers and exhibitors who are present and who declare that the showing is the best ever made in Pittsburgh and one of the best in the country for a season of this character. In Mechanical hall there is the novel and thrilling spectacular production of the Siege of Antwerp, a vision in colors and light effects of the great war now going on in Europe. One sees shells flying and bursting over the beautiful Belgian city and hears the roar of the artillery and sees the destruction of enormous property values.

The most important element in this great Exposition season, for western Pennsylvania, eastern Ohio and West Virginia, is the fact that this year special excursions are running over all railroads to the Point show, and which will continue until Oct. 16. This will open the way for thousands to visit the Exposition and enjoy its scores of attractions who for some years have not been able to do so on an attractive basis. Second to this is the fact that the Pittsburgh Exposition continues to give to the public each year concerts from the best orchestras and concert bands in the entire world, concerts that, given separately, would cost two dollars, exclusive of anything else, and all for the single admission of 25 cents, which takes in all other attractions for a whole day's visit.

It is only because the Pittsburgh Exposition is the work of a society of public spirited citizens laboring without profit except the happiness and pleasure and information they can bring to the greatest number of people of the Pittsburgh district, that such a magnificent institution is possible. And the more that the public come to it the greater will the Exposition expand, the better will its season entertain, the more will it tell, year by year, the progress made by the Pittsburgh district in industry, art philanthropy, domestic sciences and in healthful entertainment of every kind. In the twenty-seven years the Exposition has been given, it has provided permanent buildings costing a million dollars, while each year at least $150,000 is expended to establish the Exposition season in form for the half million or more people, who come to its doors.

Bullet Stopping Tricks.

Five feet of clay, three feet of loose earth, or two and a half feet of sand will stop a modern rifle bullet at the closest range; but, curiously enough, as the layman may think, ramming earth hard reduces its resisting power, and high velocity bullets have less penetration in sand at short than at medium range. Eighteen inches of sand between boards is bullet proof, also nine inches of well built brick work. Soft wood, like fir, across the grain is bullet proof at point blank range if forty-eight inches thick, or at 500 yards if half as thick. Similarly, twenty-seven inches of hard wood, like oak, is point blank proof, or fifteen inches at 500 yards. Half an inch of wrought iron or mild steel, a quarter of an inch of hard steel, or a fifth of an inch of special steel is bullet proof. So are six inches of shingle, fifteen inches of coal, or, as some people may be surprised to know, eight feet of snow.—London Express.

Napkin Rings.

But for the napkin rings. They are relics of a departed age, reminders of the era of the Saturday night bath, the old folks' concerts and the painted panoramas of the Nile. They abide now in out of the way corners, tarnished and forgotten, bands of old silver, often affectionately inscribed at the command of givers long since turned to dust. They are the sort of reminders of a gentler but less fastidious generation that we do not like to part with except for some good reason and have no desire to keep. The serial napkin went long ago. To the melting pot, by all means, with the rings, and that they may melt up into millions of dollars' worth of silver is our sincere wish.—New York Times.

The Cigarmakers' Luxury.

Besides the privilege of having newspapers and novels read to him while he works, the Cuban cigarmaker demands another indulgence—that of cheering his labors with cigars provided by the drm. Every morning six high grade wrappers are handed to him for his own use, and in these he folds as much as he likes of the tobacco supplied him for the day's work. The cigars thus made and consumed are said to cost the Havana tobacco industry a sum of close on $250,000 a year. The head of one great firm once declared that he would willingly make over his factory and plantations to his employees if in return they undertook to give him the cigars they rolled for themselves.

—Mr. William Alexander returned home Saturday from the Presbyterian hospital, Pittsburgh.

—Mrs. J. Lander and daughter Wilma have returned from a ten days trip to Cleveland, Youngstown and Warren, O.

—The Misses Mary and Anna Hennigan returned home today after spending a week with their aunt, Mrs. Mary Preston.

"Billy's Love Making" with Carwood and Mersereau—good day for love making is Tuesday, fine comedy. One of Charles Chaplins best comedies, tomorrow at the Olympic.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bigerton of Knox avenue, a baby boy on Saturday morning. Mother and babe are doing fine and father is wearing a smile that won't come off.

—Mrs. Wm. Fohl and children returned home today from a three weeks visit to Ohio. They were accompanied home by Mr. Fohls mother who will make an extended visit with her sons William and Christy Fohl.

LADY ILL

Thursday and Friday—It is already a proven fact that the Broadway Universal features, every Thursday and Metro Corporation pictures every Friday are of high merit supported by the famous Broadway end stage stars and never disappoint anyone. "The Diamond From the Sky," has proved to be one of the soul and life of all the moving picture fans in Monessen. The manager of the Olympic was saying he hoped that he would never fail to get the Diamond from the Sky picture as if he does it is possible his patrons would raise a big racket over their dissapointment.

WOMEN IN THE NEWS

Boston—News that Mme. Katherine Breshkovskaya, the "Little Grand mother of the Russian Revolutionists" has been exiled to the Arctic wilds by the Czar is contained in a letter received by Miss Alice Stone Blackwell. The torture of a nearly blind, tottering old woman will be far greater, and this "peril" of the Czar will be far safer away up near the North Pole. She is condemned to close her days at Yakoutsk, in Siberia, a wretched village of 15 huts and a Cossack patrol, far up in the Arctic Circle, where the cold often reaches 50 degrees below zero. Although 70 years old, her revolutionary spirit is unbroken, she writes. She can just see enough to sew and to write. There is no hate in her heart as she accepts this final exile in the frozen north. Ten years ago this famous woman visited America and met Julia Ward Howe and Jane Adams, with other notable women. She stood in famous Faneuil hall and was cheered to the echo. Twice she has escaped from exile, only to be again caught. She is happy in the thought that she has induced better conditions for the serfs of Russia, and believes a new era has set in in her native land.
